Re: RP's Pasta Closes the Fork & Spoon Cafe

RP's Pasta Company has decided to close its Fork & Spoon Café due to economic situations involving the restaurant only. The Fork & Spoon was located in the production building at 1133 East Wilson St. Madison WI. RP's owner, Peter Robertson, has made the decision to focus all of the company's energy on the continuing production of quality fresh pasta and frozen ravioli along with the recent addition of frozen entrées and prepared foods to the already extensive line of pasta. "Things are going very well for our production lines and the restaurant was becoming a distraction. When we started to see the downturn in restaurant attendance we realized that our resources could be put to better use," says Robertson. RP's will continue to be a quality local foods manufacturer while also continuing to focus on local and regional buying practices.
